HEAT PANEL

Iwatani's patented heat panel system draws heat from the center flame to the butane canister. This patented systems correctly maintains constant pressure as the fuel is consumed, correlating a higher BTU output versus stoves with no heal panel system. This system also allows the stove to utilize the entire can of butane leaving no residual unused butane fuel, assuring greater economical and environmental standards.

Safety Accreditations

CSA (CANADIAN STANDARDS ASSOCIATION): CSA is a leading standards developer for gas-fired product and alternative energy standards in the U.S. and the global marketplace. They are accredited by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) under the Committee, Canvass and Organizational Methods of standards development.

INDUCTION STOVE

Table-Top Induction Stove

The new redesigned Iwatani Induction Stove IWA-1800 is constructed to be the most portable and durable induction unit available. With a slimmer frame and profile, the IWA-1800 is lighter and multiple units can be placed side by side. Constructed with Schott-Ceran top-plates and an enhanced operating design, the IWA-1800 is built with enhanced durability and functionality in mind. Other features, such as auto-overheating shut-off, material compatibility detector, and electronic touch pad controls make the IWA-1800 extremely user friendly. 1500 watt units are also available.

IWA-2500 (2500W/240V, 2200W/208V)

New Induction, IWA-2500 is high powered model (2500w/240v, 2200w/208v). Even though power is high, this size is compact! Constructed with Schott-Ceran top-plates and an enhanced operating design, the IWA-2500 is built with enhanced durability and functionality in mind. Other features, such as auto-overheating shut-off, material compatibility detector, and electronic touch pad controls are also equipped.

DI-1800

Drop-In Induction Stove

The Iwatani DI-1800 can convert any counter or mobile counter-top into a cooking station. Designed to drop into hollowed out counter spaces, only the Schott-Ceran cooking surface can be seen from above while the compact control panel can be inconspicuously placed nearby to minimize visibility and to further maximize the visual aesthetics of the cooking station. And with a digital temperature control knob, adjusting temperatures couldn't be easier. Equipped with a cooking pot/pan over-heating device, auto safety shut-down, material compatibility detector and other safety features.
